

What is an essay and how do we write it

An essay should cover only one idea or thought. It should also be borne in mind that one idea may contain several important questions. And it is possible that during the defense of the essay will have to answer additional questions on the topic. Thus, it is necessary to write the work in such a way as to answer all the questions that may arise from the listener already in the text. This at times facilitates the process of protecting the essay.
